MONTICELLO COLLEGE LIBRARY
ODFREY, ILL.

To the Class of '49:

You are dedicating this issue of the Echo to a man whose devotion to Monticello has seldom been equaled during the past one hundred and eleven years. I am delighted to see Mr. Rodgers so honored.

I hope that as you dedicate this book you will also give serious thought to the dedication of yourselfs toward the fulfillment of what has up until now been but a fond, futile dream—good will of man for man, and peace on earth for all.

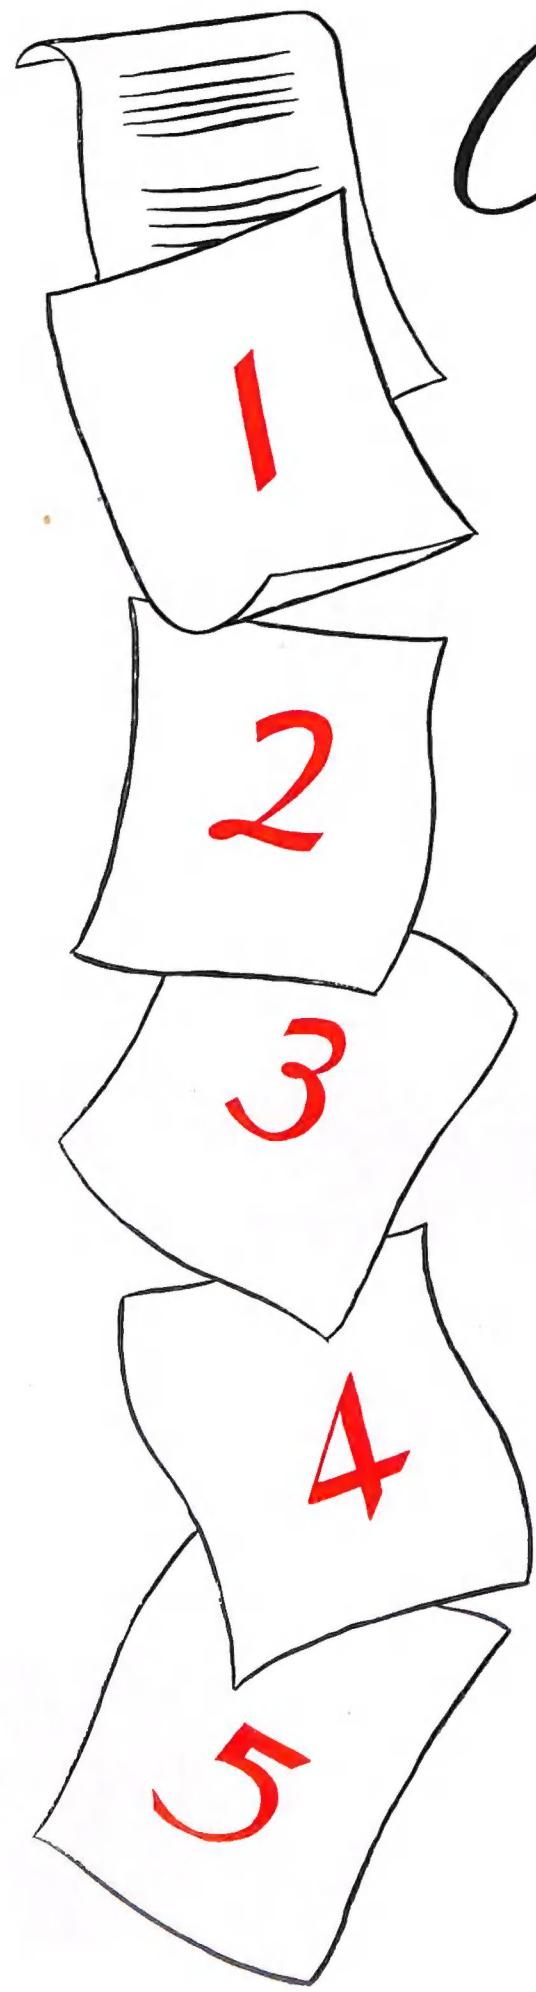

dedication

The staff of the 1949 Echo dedicates this book to Eben Rodgers, president of the Board of Trustees of Monticello College. Mr. Rodgers became a member of the board in 1929 and president in 1945. Mr. Rodgers' contact with Monticello goes back many years, for his mother, Mrs. Edward Rodgers, formerly Ella Hewit, was a graduate of Monticello in the Class of 1869.

Mr. Rodgers is a prominent citizen of Alton and is a man whom Monticello is proud to know. He has always been prominent in civic activities and has had many honors bestowed upon him. He founded and became president of the Boy Scout Organization in Alton. He has been director of the Alton-Wood River Chapter of the American Red Cross, president of the Group Hospital Service, and director of the Alton Memorial Hospital. In 1947 he was honored by the Alton DeMolay Chapter for his service to the community.

Mr. Rodgers is quiet, modest, and unassuming. He is often seen on campus, as he comes out to the College for most of the concerts, plays, and banquets, in addition to numerous business appointments with the Administration.

Mr. Rodgers is truly a man worthy of our praise. We consider it a privilege to have this opportunity to thank him for all he has done for the community and for Monticello.

"The years of toil and pleasure,
Replete with wisdom's gain,
Those years of richest measure
That will not come again."

Dr. John Ripley Young as President of Monticello undertakes the responsibility of arriving at the solutions for the administration and the educational problems of the college.

From Marshall College Dr. Young received his B.A. degree and from the University of Illinois his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees.

Greatly interested in civic projects, Dr. Young belongs to the Rotary Club and is associated with the Community Chest. He enjoys sports and is always an enthusiastic spectator at the college games. The stories which Dr. Young tells amuse the head table and are famous on the campus.

Dr. and Mrs. Young are well-known for their cordial hospitality in the Evergreens and their attendance at the receptions, dances, assemblies, and vesper programs.

board of trustees

Entrusted to nine men and women, whom we recognize as the Board of Trustees, is the responsibility for the over-all government of Monticello College. Each member serves for a period of eight years and meets on campus once every two months to discuss the policies and business matters of the college.

Eben Rodgers, chairman of the board of the Alton Brick Company, acts as president of the Board with Mrs. Spencer T. Olin (Ann Whitney, '25) serving as secretary.

The remaining seven members of the board who offer their time and effort to Monticello are Philip S. Harper of Chicago; Mrs. Theodore Chapman, widow of the late T. S. Chapman who was the former chairman of the board; Mrs. George Sparks Milnor (Alice Ryrie, '11) of Wilmette, Illinois; Marshall Acker, vice-president of Olin Industries, Inc., of Alton; D. Howard Doane, chairman of the board of the Doane Agricultural Service of St. Louis; Fred Kuehne, president of the Kuehne Manufacturing Co., who serves as chairman of the property committee of the board; Dr. John R. Young, president of the college, who is a member ex-officio; and Mrs. William Wood Parsons of Terre Haute, president of Monticello from 1910 to 1918, who is a member emeritus.

For the purpose of expanding educational opportunities for worthy students of the college a scholarship reserve fund was established by the trustees. Profits from the bookstore, coin-operated machines, the Cabin, and the money given by graduating classes for scholarship purposes are turned over to this fund.

RUBY CLOYD

A.B., Transylvania College; M.A., Teachers College, Columbia University

Every Monticello student studies English, and each student is given the opportunity of learning how to read with appreciation and how to express her thoughts creatively both in oral and written exposition.

First year students are placed in an English composition course which teaches them to write correctly and expressively. They are also acquainted with several contemporary novels, short stories, essays, plays, and poems.

A course in Biblical literature is offered covering both the Old and New Testaments of the King James Version, which is treated not from a theological point of view, but rather as a cultural heritage of English speaking people. English literature, a course open to seniors only, is a study of classical literature from the eighth century to the present.

One of the more advanced courses in the English Department is American literature combined with American history, known as A.C. and C. (American Culture and Civilization.)

The objective of the art department is to develop in the student an understanding and an appreciation in the visual arts and to institute a sound foundation for achievement in the fine or applied arts.

Practicing artists comprise the staff. With the advantage of large and well equipped studios and small classes, every member of the class receives a maximum of individual instruction in her personal creative efforts.

An important and valuable course in the art department is Art History, consisting of an introduction to art in various civilizations and their contributions to contemporary forms. Students are offered a course in sculpturing which includes modeling in clay, life studies, carving in wood and stone, ceramic sculpture, and pottery. Practical courses in drawing and painting undertake still life, landscape and life studies. Courses in basic design, interior decoration, and commercial art are also provided.

Traveling exhibitions and displays of student work are shown throughout the year.

Natural Science*

A.B., University of Illinois; M.A., Columbia University; graduate study, University of Chicago and Columbia University

To orient the student in the world of life about him is the fundamental purpose of the natural science department which is composed of three main sections: biology, chemistry and mathematics. Third floor Fobes offers many opportunities to the student because of its well-equipped laboratories and large classrooms.

The biology division, supervised by Miss Gulick, Miss Hawkins, and Miss Hall, offers courses in zoology, botany, and general biology. Field trips, hikes, and trips of exploration to the Godfrey Pond were taken during the year. A visit to the St. Louis Zoo was also arranged for those students interested.

In the chemistry department, Miss Cressey and Miss Wilfred are the supervisors. They teach the students both general and organic chemistry, and qualitative and quantitative analysis. Such courses as these provide a foundation for future study in home economics, nursing, and nutrition, or a continuation in more advanced chemistry.

College algebra is taught by Miss Hall in the mathematics section.

Courses in the literature and theory of music, as well as applied music courses, are offered at Monticello. Musical performances by guest artists, bi-monthly Serenade Concerts by the faculty, and spring recitals by students serve to bring performers and listeners together in a congenial atmosphere. Formal concerts are available to students at the College, in Alton, and in St. Louis.

The Music Reference Library, open to students at all times, contains records and scores. The College Library lends its collection of records and scores to the students also.

The Choir, which gives two public concerts annually and makes occasional out-of-town trips, plays an important part in the college activities. The Glee Club sings with the Choir on all occasions except Vesper Services. The students who qualify for these organizations regard their membership highly.

HOMER F. YOUNG

Chairman

Department of Social Sciences

B.A., Ohio University; M.A., Harvard University

The social sciences deal with the relationships of man to his social and physical environment. This department is sub-divided into history, sociology, government, economics, and geography.

The history courses are designed to make the student aware of the continuity and change in human affairs and more capable of planning for the future by use of knowledge of causes and results of past acts. Most of the juniors take modern European history, while those students especially interested in the culture of the United States take the American history course.

Sociology consists of the study of human life in terms of social institutions. The study of crime and punishment, juvenile delinquency, marriage problems, and patterns of community living holds the student's interest. The courses in government and economics provide the student with information necessary to an intelligent citizen and voter.

Geography includes geomorphology, weather and climate, and general geography, which is cultural study of the potentialities of man's environment and his use of them.

Every Monticello girl participates in the Physical Education program, since it is recognized that a sound body should accompany a sound mind. The ideals of companionship, fair play, and sportsmanship are emphasized as a part of good living and good playing.

The year's activities are divided into three sport seasons. A wide variety of sports are offered and the girls may select their favorite, whether it be archery, badminton, basketball, fencing, golf, hockey, swimming, life saving, riding, softball, tennis, or volleyball. This year the physical education majors have had the opportunity of taking tests for ratings as officials in basketball and volleyball.

A voluntary sports program was offered after school and from the many girls who participated were chosen the various teams which represented Monticello at the numerous competitive games with other colleges.

Special events of the year were the Monticello Horse Show, the Marlin Club Pageant, and the three Sports Banquets.

Miss Patricia Lock teaches the course of psychology, and its popularity shows how vital a fundamental understanding of "the thinking, feeling, and doing of people" is to a well-rounded education and a well-planned life.

Today the interest of students in human make-up and behavior, in personality problems and in intelligence, in emotional behavior and in motivation has greatly increased as a result of the present tangled mass of human relationships on a world-wide scale. Never before was the science which attempts "to describe, understand, predict, and control the behavior of people" so important.

speech and drama department

Monticello is proud to have one of the finest drama departments in the country. Mrs. Solveig Sullivan is director of this department which offers to its members classes in acting, directing, play production, radio, voice and diction, and rehearsal and performance. W. Vladimir Rousseff, who is technical director of this department, designs and makes many of the striking stage sets and costumes in the plays. Mr. Frank Ballard helps him in these duties.

One of the major productions given during the year was "Pinochio."

JOHN WEDIG, M.D.
College Physician

Whether it's a case of the sniffles or a cut finger, or a case of the mumps or measles, a Monti girl has the reassuring knowledge that there is always a graduate nurse on call at the infirmary. Three times a week Dr. Smith and Dr. Wedig make routine calls, and for those unfortunate patients needing hospital care, the Blue Cross Hospital Plan, to which every student belongs, helps out with the expenses.

The Monti student's first contact with the health department comes with her physical examination during the first week of school. The results are kept on file in the infirmary office.

This year a new infirmary was built and opened to the students. Its modern and cheerful rooms make it almost a pleasure to be a patient.

student council

President	CAROLYN WADE
Vice-President	PEGGY CHAMBERS
Secretary	MARTHA COMBS
Treasurer	MARION STEVENSON

Every girl enrolled at Monticello belongs to the Student Association, which is governed by the Student Council, the members of which are chosen by vote of the student body.

The Student Council represents the student body and governs the activities of the school according to a plan which is carried out to the benefit of the students. It serves as a link between the student body and the administration and exercises minor disciplinary functions.

Presidents of the M.C.A. and M.A.A., class presidents, house chairmen, the chairmen of the Sponsors and of the Social Committee, and the editors of the student publications make up the Student Council. The council meets every Monday to discuss and act on problems that have arisen during the week. Miss Mary Laing Swift is faculty adviser.

The members of the Student Council have worked together throughout the year to justify the confidence that the faculty and the student body have placed in them.

The Monticello Christian Association affords each student the opportunity to become more interested in religion, and to take an active part in the religious activities on campus. Every student is a member of the M.C.A., and is urged to participate in its discussion groups and projects. The Cabinet, made up of four elected officers and various committee heads, provides leadership for this organization. Mr. Ralph Heller is the faculty adviser.

The M.C.A. is responsible for many important projects. The Social Service program is a yearly task which is of great benefit to the children in Alton. Student volunteers work with children's groups at the Alton Y.W.C.A. and the Hillcrest Settlement House.

Religious Emphasis Week is an annual event. This year Reverend Inglis, Rabbi Jacobs and Father Bowdern were on campus in March. They led chapel services and discussion groups and held private conferences.

The M.C.A. promotes the World Student Service Fund drive. The money collected is used for the rehabilitation of universities and students in war-torn countries.

Other projects of great beneficial value carried out by the M.C.A. were the Doll Dinner, the Red Cross drive, and an Easter egg hunt for orphans in Alton.

The Echo, the written and pictorial record of the activities, organizations, and personnel of Monticello, was produced by the hard-working Echo staff.

With the helpful advice of Joseph A. Russo, faculty sponsor, staff members planned the lay-out, pasted proof, produced write-ups, gathered ads, and kept a strict eye on the budget.

In April the last bit of material was sent to the printer, and the editor breathed a sigh of relief.

The school publication, the Times, is a bi-weekly newspaper put out by the students. The Times is the "voice" of the school as it contains news of every activity on campus. It is sent to all students, parents, and a number of alumnae so that they might know what Monti students are thinking and doing.

The staff is composed of seniors who worked on the paper as reporters and writers during their junior year. Juniors contribute to the news, feature, sports, and editorial columns. Some of the girls have had little previous experience in publishing a school paper, but by writing, copy-reading, and editing they get much practical journalistic training. Joseph A. Russo is the faculty adviser and photographer.

Chairman PRISCILLA GARRISON

Every Monti girl knows from personal experience the value of the Sponsor organization, which helps new students to meet friends and to adjust to college life. From the middle of the summer when friendly and encouraging letters from her Sponsor begin to appear in the mailbox to the end of the school year, each new student feels that her Sponsor is a personal friend to advise, to assist, and to reassure her.

The Sponsors were chosen by the preceding group of Sponsors on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, and personality. They arrived on campus a few days before the beginning of school to organize orientation week, which was designed to thwart any first-week homesick blues. This year the main events of the week were the Black-and-Gold Tea, the bonfire, the sponsor spreads, and the La Vista picnic.

Eligible for membership to the Science Club are those students enrolled in science courses. Membership is attained by earning six points in working on committees or planning programs. The aim of the Science Club is to stimulate the students' interest in science and to broaden their general knowledge of physics, chemistry and biology.

Student demonstrations, trips, and lectures by students and faculty provided interesting programs. Outstanding lectures were those on gravity, cosmetic composition, and the principles of light.

Events of the year included the Science Club Fun House in November, the Christmas dinner at which time popcorn and berries were strung to decorate the birds' Christmas tree, and the picnic in April. Miss Elizabeth Gulick is the faculty adviser of the club.

social committee

The social program of Monticello is conducted by the Social Committee which is composed of a group of students who have achieved membership by earning a certain number of points. At the head of the committee this year were the three co-chairmen, Robin McMurray, Joanne Finnell, and Donna Allen.

Donna Allen presided at the meetings, served as the Student Council representative, and was in charge of all the teas, receptions, and dances.

The Merry-Go-Round was under the supervision of Joey Finnell who, with her many assistants, kept that popular gathering place in good order.

Robin McMurray had charge of the dining room and had the duties of securing table hostesses and enforcing dress regulations. Mrs. Florence Duree is faculty adviser.

Great Books Club is a new club organized this year under the sponsorship of the English Department, the members of which are the faculty advisers of the club.

Anyone who is interested in reading and studying some of the greatest classics of all time may become a member. This year Plato's Republic and Machiavelli's The Prince were read and discussed. The Great Books Club meets once a week, and has proved to be very popular as well as educational.

the monticello ideals

DIGNITY This is a quality of reserve which comes with emotional, intellectual and social maturity. Dignity is always reflected in the recognition of the fitness of things and in the poise and self-confidence with which one places one's self above that which might be considered unseemly.

BEAUTY Within each girl is the power to recognize and appreciate the beauty of everyday experiences. Life is filled with beauty if one is sensitive to it and eager to find it—if one's eyes are trained to see, one's ears to hear, one's heart to understand and one's mind to remember.

LOYALTY One of the most important of the Monticello Ideals is a deep-seated loyalty to the college, one's friends, one's family and one's own beliefs. This deep-seated emotion will grow through understanding, respect and love.

WISDOM As the Monticello Girl grows in academic stature she seeks to increase her ability to apply her knowledge usefully, for wisdom is the union of knowledge and understanding.

SERVICE Each of us has a distinctive personality and unique talents. The Monticello Girl considers it not only a privilege but a responsibility to share her gifts with all, thereby helping herself and others to develop to the fullest measure.

DEMOCRACY The truly democratic person interests herself in the activities of others. She seeks to understand and respect the ideals and beliefs of her associates while maintaining her own independence of thought and action.

FRIENDSHIP Many of your most cherished and lasting friendships will be made while you are at Monticello. Your college days will afford rich opportunities for making a wide circle of friends. In true friendship there is dignity, beauty, loyalty, service, democracy, and never-failing consideration.

When these ideals have become a part of you, you will have formed an understanding and appreciation of yourself and others. You will have built a strong foundation for living, and Monticello will always be a part of you, for these are the things for which this College stands.

Manager CHARLOTTE MILLS

The most popular winter sport at Monticello is basketball. Almost half of the student body turned out to participate in the voluntary basketball program.

In the inter-class tournament Charlie Mills and Mary Best were co-captains of the senior team and led the seniors in their victory over the juniors, who were piloted by Pat Scott and Bette Davis.

The varsity team had a very busy season playing many inter-college games. The team competed with the basketball teams of Washington University, Lindenwood, McKendree, Harris Teachers College, Fontbonne, LeClerc, and Webster College.

The most popular game of the season, however, was the Faculty vs. Senior game in which the faculty emerged as the champs by defeating the seniors 38 to 30.

President VIRGINIA HAUVER
Sec'y-Treas. MARILYN COE

Marlin Club, an organization open to all girls who are interested in rhythmic and synchronized swimming, had its beginning at Monticello in 1941. The Club has grown each year and at present has a membership of forty girls. Tryouts for Marlin are held each fall and spring, and all girls who pass the necessary swimming skills become members.

The eighth annual Marlin Club Pageant was held on March 11th and 12th this year. The pageant, "Town and Country," was a student production, planned and directed by Marlin Club members under the supervision of faculty advisor, Jane Morrison.

Monticello first went to the diamond at the end of the orientation week program to determine which house would be the victor in the contest for the Softball Trophy. Caldwell gained double honors, first by conquering the strong Baldwin team and thus becoming possessor of the trophy, and second, by gaining the honor of playing the faculty. Needless to say, the faculty, captained by Dr. Young, batted in an easy victory.

At the first sign of spring the Monti players returned to the diamond. After a few days of practice the class of '49 played the class of '50 in an inter-class tournament.

Manager MARY HAY

"En garde," was the call as the Monti fencers lunged into the fencing season. This year Monticello was proud of its varsity fencing team which fenced against Illinois College and some independent St. Louis fencers.

An inter-class tournament in which the fencers had the opportunity to display all the skills they had learned in class climaxed the season.

Mr. Anthony of St. Louis brought several members of his fencing classes out to Monti and gave an exciting demonstration in February. Following this Mr. Anthony and his fencers instructed Monti fencers in the finer skills of the sport.

Manager BETTY MAE SHEPTER

Volleyball is a very popular sport at Monticello and is offered as a class sport and voluntary sport all three seasons. In the autumn and spring the teams move to the outside court to take advantage of the good weather.

At the end of each season there were inter-class tournaments, and the year was climaxed by a faculty vs. student volleyball game.

Tennis Club tryouts are held each spring and fall, with the girls who are already members judging the candidates. The Club members participate in contests with other schools and inter-club matches.

Western XPERT Shells in your gun give your dog the kind of support their hard work deserves.

In Western XPERT shells you have the advantage of one of the greatest shot shell improvements in history—the sealed gas chamber. This chamber, secured by the use of the unique Super-Seal Cup Wads, located above and below the powder, prevent gas leakage either into the head of the shell or into the shot. To you, this means (1) no loss of energy (2) improved patterns (3) no "balled" or deformed shot (4) no "leading" (5) no expanded brass to cause difficult extraction.
